Back To School

The schools' summer holidays are over for another year, and teachers and pupils are again occupying their places in the little schoolhouses all over this prairie country, where the real foundations of Canada's future citizenship are being laid.

But while the teachers are in their places, something more than ten thousand of them in the three Prairie Provinces, it is important to ask and answer the question whether all the boys and girls are again in school who ought to be there.

Compulsory school attendance laws are in force in these provinces, under which it is obligatory on parents and guardians to send their children to school until a certain age is reached. These are wise laws, designed to prevent future citizens from growing up to young manhood and womanhood not only uneducated, but illiterate. In this western country boys and girls are wisely compelled to learn to read, write and speak English and master the rudiments of a secondary school education.

Every year, however, comes thousands of boys and girls reach the age when the compulsion of the law enforcing school attendance is lifted, and it becomes a matter to be decided by the fathers and mothers whether Charles or John or Susie shall return to school, or whether they will be kept at home to help on the farm or in the store or about the house, or be allowed to go out and "get a job" and thus help to keep the family.

It is a critical decision fathers and mothers are called upon to make. Boys and girls, usually, are anxious to get away from the discipline, routine and what so many regard as the drudgery of school. It is not until later years that they look upon their school days as the happiest, most carefree days of their lives. In their teens, however, they are anxious to go out into the world and begin life's great adventure. It is the parents who must decide wisely for them.

After all, as one observer has said, it is just a matter of arithmetic. If a boy is just ready to enter high school he can probably earn six or eight dollars a week for the first year and an average of ten, twelve or fifteen dollars a week for the next three years. That is to say, he can earn from $1,500 to $2,500 if he stays away from school.

But take the other side of the ledger. If the boy continues to go to school for another three years he will be able, at the end of his course to earn on the average more than the boy who dropped short of the high school, and he will be unable to earn it for the thirty or forty or fifty years of his earning life. The balance in money is on the side of the boy who returns to school.

Then comes along the pessimist and the job's comforter and says: "Well, if he goes back to school and gets cram full of book learning what will it profit him? Does not a plumber earn more than a schoolmaster, and a carpenter more than a clerk? And of what particular value will a high school education be to John as a farmer or to Susie as a farmer's wife?" These are unfair arguments and illogical. The trained carpenter and the skilled plumber having the backing of a good education soon far ahead of his fellow carpenter or plumber who left school before he was half-way through. It is the educated man who stands a better chance for himself while the uneducated ones become his employees. And in this age and generation it is not necessary to dwell on the fact that successful farming has become a highly organized business, involving a really scientific undertaking in the carrying on of which ignorance and slipshod methods can have no place, but in which the trained, intelligent, thinking man is pre-eminent.

But everything should not be measured by the money standard. Is there not a better opportunity in life for happiness, for contentment and for service, for the boy or girl who passes the examinations and proves which a good education confers upon them? There is a place in the life of the community, the Province, the Dominion which only the educated can fill, and, in these days, and in the years to come, service to our country and to our fellow men is going to count.

Parents must ask themselves the question whether, by withdrawing their children from school before they have secured the advantages of a high school education, they are going to deny to them the opportunity of fitting themselves for the rendering of such service, and of assuming a place in the life of the country which they may otherwise be exceptionally well qualified to fill. The fathers and mothers of today are the trustees of the future citizenship of Canada. With them rests the decision now which may make or mar their children's future. It is a tremendous responsibility. The wise decision will be to keep their boys and girls at school just as long as they can possibly do so, and thus give to them the best possible equipment for their life work, no matter what lot or sphere of action they may be called.

WHY BEAUTY FADES

A Condition Due Entirely to Poor, Watery Blood

The girl who returns home from school will be found with the same tiredness that is so easily physical breakdown, because this getting tired so easily is probably the first warning symptom of a thinning of her health is to be disregarded if her health is to be preserved.

When the blood becomes thin and impure the patient becomes thin, pale, haggard and fatigued. She not only suffers from headaches, palpitation of the heart, dizzy spells and a loss of appetite.

This condition will go from bad to worse until poor and failing conditions set in, if prompt steps are not taken to increase and enrich the blood supply. To make the red blood bring the oxygen to the body, no medicine yet discovered can equal Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. If given a fair trial their use will bring royal results.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have made thousands of pale, languid girls active and strong. On the first day of taking these pills, parents should insist upon their daughters taking a fair course of these pills. They will not only restore health, but will save further expense in bills.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills may be obtained from any dealer in medicine or by mail at .50 cents a box, or six boxes for $2.50, from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Flax Survey in Ontario

Toronto.—A personal survey of the flax situation in Ontario made by Mr. Justus Miller, field crop specialist of the Department of Agriculture, reveals the fact that the crop this year is only a fair one, at least one-third of the yield being too short to pull. This quality will be made into Scotch tow, and the remaining two-thirds of the crop will be used for fiber. There are in all 50 flax mills in the province, and these are operated by 33 companies. The growers expect to ship about 30,000 bushels of seed to Ireland.

Figures on Strike Losses

Ottawa—According to figures prepared by the Canadian Department of Labor, a total of 14,227,220 days have been lost through strikes from 1901 to 1919. Putting the minimum wage at $3 a day, the department estimates that the working men of Canada have lost at least $43,000,000 during the period, though no estimate is made of increased wages secured through the strikes.

The total number of strikes was 2,127, involving 597,335 employees.

They hustled into their overcoats to the playing of the National Anthem. "Hurry," said Conward, "it's get out quick. Ain't she some dame? There—through the side exit—it the stage door is that way. She promised to have her chum with her—they'll be waiting if we don't hurry."

Conward steered him to the stage entrance, where a little group was already congregated. In a moment the girl appeared, handsomely dressed in furs. Dave would not have known her, but Conward recognized her at once, and stepped forward. With her was another girl, also from the club—but Dave could not recall her part. He was suddenly aware of being introduced.

"This is my friend Belton," Conward was saying. Dave was about to correct him when Conward managed to whisper, "Whist! Your stage name. Mine's Edward. Don't forget."

Conward took the first girl by the arm, and Dave found himself following rapidly with the other. They cut through certain side streets, up a stairway, and into a dark hall. Conward was rattling keys and swearing amiably in his soft voice. Presently a door opened; Conward pressed a button, and they found themselves in a small but comfortably furnished room—evidently bachelor apartments.

The girls threw off their wraps and sauntered about the place, commenting freely on the furnishings and decorations, while Conward started a gas grate and put some water to boil.

"Sorry I've nothing for you to eat," he said, "but I've some good medicine for the thirst."

"Wading's poor business when there's a thirst to be quenched," said one of the girls, with a yawn. "And believe me, I'm low on energy."

Conward pulled a table into the centre of the room, set chairs about, and produced glasses and a bottle. Dave experienced a sudden feeling as of a poor swimmer beyond his depth. He had never drunk, not even beer, so much from principles of abstinence as from disgust over his father's drunkenness and enmity towards the means of it.

"The glasses were filled and raised, "Ho!" said Conward.

"Here's looking!" said one of the girls.

MURINE Eyes, Ears, Nose, Head—Keep your Eyes Strong and Healthy. If they Tire, Smart, Itch, or Smart, if Sore, Irritated, Infected, Green, Red, or Yellow, use Murine often. Safe for Infant or Adult. At all Drugists in Canada. Write for Free Eye Book. Maris Company, Chicago, U.S.A.

Dave still hesitated, but the other girl clinked her glass against his. "Here's looking at you," she said, and she appeared to lay special emphasis on the last two words. Certainly her eyes were on Dave's as she raised her glass to her lips. And under the spell of those eyes he raised his glass and drained it.

Other glasses were filled and drained. The three were chattering away, but Dave was but vaguely conscious of their talk, and could weave no connected meaning into it. His head was buzzing with a pleasant dreamy sensation. A very grateful warmth descended him, and with it came a disposition to go to sleep. He probably would have gone to sleep had his eye not fallen on a picture on the wall. It was a picture of a girl pointing her finger at him. He suspected that she was pointing it at him and as he looked more closely he became very sure of it. . . . No girl could point her finger at him. He arose and made a huge excuse room. He missed her, and with difficulty retraced his steps to the table to make a fresh start.

"She's makin' fun of me," he said, "an' I don't stand for that. Nobody can do that with me. Nobody—see? I don't 'low it!"

"Oh, you don't," laughed one of the girls running into a corner and pointing a finger at him. "You don't?"

He turned his attention to her, steadying himself very carefully before he attempted an advance. Then with wide-stretched arms, he bore down cautiously upon her. When he had her almost within reach she darted along the edge of the room. He attempted a sudden change in direction which ended disastrously, and he found himself very much sprawled out upon the floor. He was aware of laughter, but what came?

He was disposed to sleep. What better place to sleep than this? What better time to sleep than this? In a moment he was lost to all consciousness.

It was later in the night when he felt himself being dragged into a sitting posture. He remonstrated in a mumble. "I'm too tired," he said, "altogether too early. Early! Wheew! Watch 'er spin. Jus' his job. Paid for it, ain't he?"

"Well, I ain't paid for this," said Conward, "rather roughly, "and you going to pull yourself together. Here, take a little of this; it'll put some ginto you." He pressed a glass to his lips, and Dave swallowed.

"What am I?" he said, blinking his eyes. He rose uncertainly to his feet and stood about the room in returning consciousness.

"Where's the girls?" he asked.

"Gone," said Conward, sulkily.

"Couldn't expect 'em to stick around all night to say goodbye, could you?" and you sleeping off your drunk?"

Dave raised his hand to his head. A sense of disgrace was already upon him. Then he suddenly turned in anger on Conward.

"You put this up on me," he cried.

"You made a fool of me. I've a mind to bash your skull in for you."

"Don't be silly," Conward retorted. "I didn't enjoy it any more than you did—introducing you as my friend, and then have you go out like that? Why didn't you tip me off? I didn't know it would put you to sleep."

"Neither did I!" said Dave.

"Well, the next thing is to get you home. Can you walk?"

"Sure." He limped to the door, but his course suddenly veered, and he found himself leaning over a chair. Conward helped him into his overcoat, and half fed, half shoved him to his boarding house.

CHAPTER SIX

Eldest awoke Sunday morning with a feeling that his head had been boiled. Also he had a prodigious thirst, which he slaked at the water pitcher. It was the practice of Metford's gang to select one of their number to care for all the horses on Sundays, while the others enjoyed the luxury of one day of leisure.

In consequence of this custom the room was still full of snoring sleepers, and the air was very close and foul.

Dave sat down by the little table that fronted the open window, and rested his head on his hands. It was early spring; the snow was gone, dazzling sunshine bathed the prairie in the distance, and near at hand were the twitters of birds and the rippling of water. It was a day to be alive and about.

But the young man's thoughts were not of the sunshine, nor the fields, nor the water. He was recalling, with considerable effort, the events of the previous night, piecing them together in impossible ways, reassembling them in official sequence. The anger he had felt toward Conward had subsided, but the sting of shame rankled in his heart. He had no doubt that he had marred the occasion for much merriment upon the part of the young women, in which, quite probably, Conward had joined.

The thought of being plagued by the same for the past 74 years. You don't experiment when you buy it. Surely the test of time proves this.

Yorkshire Miners Cost Nation Dear

Strike Fund Exhausted With End of Fourth Week's Benefits

London.—The Yorkshire miners' strike have been an expensive thing for the miners as well as for the people not directly connected with the dispute. The generally accepted figure areas £1,000,000.

Damages to mines, $10,000,000; coal lost to industry, $15,000,000; losses to kindred industries, $12,500,000; the strike fund of the miners, amounting to $1,400,000, was exhausted with the end of the fourth week's strike benefits. This fund, it was stated, had taken some 25 years to accumulate.

The Local Government Board, it is stated, cut out a red tape, and with the co-operation of the local police authorities, secured a decree throughout the district. In some cases $2.50 a week was allowed every married woman, with $1.25 for every child. This money, with the strike benefit averted, the authorities believe, is a great deal of suffering.

One Big Union Is Dead Issue

Winnipeg.—In the opinion of R. A. Rigg, organizer for the internationals in the West, the One Big Union movement is definitely defeated as far as Regina, Saskatoon and Moose Jaw are concerned.

"Very little, O. B. U. sentiment is apparent in these cities and with very few exceptions the unions are lining up behind the internationals."

London-Paris Air Service

Journey Both Ways Being Made in Just Under Six Hours

London.—Three machines took part in the inauguration of the air express service to Paris, the journey both ways being made by one machine in just under six hours.

The "Aero 41," which belongs to the Aeroplane Transport and Travel Limited, and which is often carried by Mr. Bonar Law and General Seely to France, carried one passenger and a cargo of goods and accomplished the journey in scheduled time.

The "Aero 16," piloted by Major C. Paterson, M.C., carried several journalists and a cargo of newspapers at the fast speed of 140 miles per hour, also arriving to time, despite head winds.

The Handley Page machine, piloted by Major Foot, carried 11 passengers, but was detained in Paris. All the machines were examined by customs officers at Hounslow and at le Bourget before departure and on arrival.

A recent issue of the Aberdeen Journal was the 20,000th number of that valuable newspaper—now the oldest in Scotland. The first issue of the Journal was published on April 18, 1746, and contained an account of the battle of Culloden fought two days previously.

With the many remedies you have you rarely know that no liquid medicine can cure your throat or nose. Even a gorgon can't reach the entrance of the throat—it can't really get inside, nor can it reach the inhaled bronchial tubes. With this it's so different from medicine-taking as you simply breathe its healing vapor, inhale its balmy fumes, which carry with them the secret to the minutest air cells in the lungs, nose, throat, and bronchial tubes.

In this scientific way the soreness and irritation is rapidly allayed, relaxed cords are loosened, the entire mucous membrane invigorated.

Every trace of cataract disappears, the disagreeable dropping of mucus is stopped, the having, spitting and stopped-up nostrils—all these signs of cataract and bronchitis are permanently cured by Cataractone.

With a bottle lasts two months, costs $1.00, small bottle 50 cents, 25 cents at dealers everywhere.

Hutterites Must Educate Children

Must Conform to Regulations or Suffer Prosecution

Winnipeg.—The Hutterites, as in the case of the Mennonites, must conform to the regulations of the Manitoba school attendance act or suffer prosecution, was the decision announced by the department of education.

Robert Fletcher, the deputy minister of education, visited the colonies at Elie, Man., and informed the Hutterites that they must make provision for the education of their children. A school is under erection now, and upon completion the department of education will appoint trustees, as the Hutterites do not take part in elections, and assign a teacher to the school.

THIS WEAK, NERVOUS MOTHER

Tells How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Restored Her Health.

Philadelphia Pa.—"I was very weak, always tired, my back ached and I felt easily moved out of breath. I went to a doctor and he said I had nervous indigestion. I was told to go to bed and to my weak condition kept me sorrowing most of the time. He said if I could not stop that, I could not get well. I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and found my husband who had not been able to work for a week and felt little better. I kept it up for three months, and I feel fine and can eat anything now without nervousness or nervousness."—Mrs. J. WORTHING, 284 North Taylor St., Philadelphia Pa.

The majority of mothers nowadays overdo, there are so many demands on their time. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will restore a normal healthy condition as did to Mrs. Worthining.

Miners In Britain Are Still Restless

London.—The situation of the coal question now is that the Miners' Federation has unanimously rejected the government's plan for working the mines in favor of nationalization. They have, however, left it to the Trades Union Congress, to be held at Glasgow on September 8, to decide whether there shall be direct action by the miners or whether constitutional means shall be employed to secure nationalization of the mines.

This means, in the opinion of the competent judges, that direct action will not be taken. The miners, nevertheless, are said to be flirting with the idea and will endeavor to induce the labor triple alliance—the miners, transportation workers and railmen—to order another ballot of its members on the employment of direct action against conscription and military interference in Russia.

Messrs. Smillie and Brace, in recent speeches, both plainly intimated that it would be a mistake to assume that direct action had been abandoned, and urged the government not to drive the miners to extremes.

John Steenman is given to Mr. Brace's declaration that coal is more important than gold by figures issued by the Board of Trade, showing steady decline week by week in the output of coal, from nearly 5,000,000 tons the week ending May 31, to just a little more than 2,500,000 tons for the week ending August 9. The greatest reduction in output was in Yorkshire.

Significant Shuffle In Cabinet

Hon. Arthur Sifton Now Minister of Public Works

Ottawa.—A small, but, in a way, significant shuffle in the cabinet took place when Hon. Arthur Sifton, former minister of customs, walked across the room and took the place of Hon. F. B. Carver as minister of public works.

No announcement is yet made as to the customs portfolio, but it is quite possible that when Hon. Martin Burrell, secretary of state, goes out, H. H. Stevens, of Vancouver, will become minister of customs and the new secretary of state will come from New Brunswick.

By this move Mr. Sifton heads a live spending department, and considerable interest attaches to the change.

Armenians Fear Massacre

London.—Reporters here are particular in their efforts to emphasize the exceedingly grave situation that must follow the withdrawal of British troops. There are conclusive indications that as soon as the withdrawal occurs the Armenians will be attacked from the east and southwest by Tatars, Kurds and Turks, who will likely form a combined force under Turkish officers. The Kurds' and Tatars are already moving towards Erivan, the Armenian capital, to be in readiness to strike when the Armenians are left defenseless.

Winnipeg Tax Dodgers

Winnipeg.—A local paper, in a special dispatch from Ottawa, states that prosecution of income tax dodgers will begin this week according to instructions from the Department of Finance. The department, it is said, plans vigorous prosecution of all persons who failed to file a return on their income or who gave false information. Several Montreal and Halifax business men and several prominent westerners are in line for early prosecution, it is reported.

U.S. Navy To Greet Prince

Vancouver.—Hon. Joseph Daniels, secretary of the United States navy, will send part of his Pacific fleet to Vancouver on September 22, when the Prince of Wales is to be here. Mr. Daniels wired city officials that he would like to be present himself, he would be pleased to send part of the fleet, and would "make such arrangements as possible." Mr. Daniels is to visit Victoria on a dreadnought on September 11.

Germans Must Fulfill Peace Terms

Allies Will Show Firmness in Having Peace Treaty Fully Carried Out

Paris.—Commenting upon the action of the peace conference in simultaneously handling Austria, in final form, the peace terms framed for her acceptance, and the delivery to Germany of the note demanding a change in the German constitution to eliminate the provision for the selection of Austrian representatives to the German parliament, the Paris newspapers declare this was not a simple coincidence. It means, the press argues, at once a firm resolution by the Allies to insist upon respect for the terms of the German note.

Wilson Will Consult People

Washington.—President Wilson laid his plan on his western speaking tour of Canada as a proposal, hunting polo, golf and tennis being his favorite pastimes.

Army Food Going Cheap

Prices Slashed to Meet Cut Made By Chain of Grocery Stores

New York.—Sale of surplus army food in New York took on the aspects of a cut rate war, when Market Commissioner Day, in charge of stores, announced that prices of canned food had been slashed to meet a cut in soup prices made by a chain of grocery stores following army food sales.

The army soup originally was sold at nine and ten cents a can, which was below the price chain stores were asking for similar products. The chain stores cut their prices to three cans for 25 cents. Commissioner Day's new price for army soup is seven cents a can.

Commissioner Day also announced revision downward of the prices charged for army bacon, beans, corn, peas, condensed milk, corn syrup and canned tomatoes. All these staples now are being sold at prices considerably below those fixed by the fair price committee, he said.

According to Commissioner Day, the army food sales have totalled more than $500,000 in eight days, and at the present rate the supply of army food will have been exhausted in two more weeks.

Cheaper Meat for New Yorkers

New York.—The retail price of meat has declined from one to two cents a pound in this city, according to Arthur Williams, federal food administrator, who has just issued his semi-weekly fair price list. In the matter of groceries, however, the campaign against the pool has not been so successful, as most of the items under this head have increased slightly.

Arrest Mexican Outlaws

Washington.—Outlaws responsible for the murder of John W. Correll, American citizen, have been arrested and will be placed on trial at Tampico, the Mexican embassy has announced. The arrests were made near Los Maguez and included Ramon Diaz, chieftain and his followers, Rafael Ruiz, Francisco Gamboa, Blas Vidal and Francisco Valverde.

Aviators Take Up Life On Ranch

To Breed Horses, Cattle and Sheep and Grow Cotton

London.—A party of former officers of the British forces held a meeting here with the purpose of getting acquainted preparatory to their departure for Central America, where they will take up life on a ranch under the supervision of Brig.-Gen. Alfred Critchley, former commander of the Royal Air Force.

Brig.-Gen. Critchley originated the plan "in recognition of the desire on the part of many other demobilized officers for healthy sporting and adventurous open-air life, combined with unlimited possibilities of a commercial nature."

On the ranch, which is located in the centre of a well-stocked sporting area, it is proposed to breed horses and cattle, and sheep, and grow cotton and other crops. The estate belongs to General Critchley.

It is planned to divide the land among the members of the club after the first year spent on it.

All the members of the party who will make the trip are bachelors, but married men, who are former officers of the British forces, will be welcomed to membership in the club after the inauguration of the enterprise.

Brig.-Gen. Critchley, who was born in Caledon 29 years ago, is widely known in Canada as a sportsman, hunting polo, golf and tennis being his favorite pastimes.

He was a member of the Lord Stratford Horse at the outbreak of the war and went to Europe and served with the First Canadian Division. He was awarded the D.S.O. in 1915.

100,000 Germans Escaped Service

Switzerland Leads Neutral Countries With 40,000 Deserters

Geneva.—Nearly 100,000 officers and men are considered deserters from the German army during the war, according to Munich advices. Included in this number are 40,000 thousands who were in England and America at the outbreak and were prevented from joining the German army, "although advised beforehand to join the colors," the dispatch says.

A proclamation of amnesty to these men has been issued if they will return to Germany this year, but many former German soldiers in this country refuse to go back, fearing that they will be placed in the ranks once again. Since the allies have permitted Germany to withdraw army on a par footing until the end of 1919, the amnesty proclamation does not apply to those accused of treason.

London.—The Air Minister states that the demonstration flight recently carried out to Scandinavian countries by a flying boat of the Royal Air Force proved to be remarkably successful.

Starting from Felixstowe and proceeding via Dundee, the machine flew direct to Norway and landed at Christiania, the first being the first occasion on which the journey has been accomplished by a British seaplane. From Christiania the trip continued by stages to Copenhagen, Copenhagen, Stockholm, Gothenburg, Esbjerg and back to Felixstowe, a total distance of 2,450 sea miles, which was covered in a total flying time of 40 hours and 40 minutes.

The flight was made entirely as a demonstration of the commercial use of flying boats, and it is noteworthy, because no mishap of any kind occurred, despite the fact that from its departure until its return to Felixstowe the machine spent a total of 27 days on the water or in the air.

Exhibition flights were carried out at Christiansand and Copenhagen.

Story of Proposed Attack Upon Petrograd Without Foundation

London.—It has been ascertained that the dispatch from Berlin giving German reports from Riga to the effect that Gen. Gough, of the British army, had issued a proclamation to the population of Petrograd that an attack was about to be made on that city is untrue.

Gen. Gough left Helsinki on August 19 for home, and at the present time is in England. He did not see Admiral Cowan, commander of the British naval forces, operating in the Baltic sea, before his departure on home.

Three Bombs at Governor Tokio.—Advices received here from Seoul, capital of Korea, state that a bomb was thrown at Governor-General Saito and that twenty persons were wounded, including an American woman named Harrison, who is believed to be related to Carter Harrison, former Mayor of Chicago. The Golden Straw Stack of the Future

The time is coming when the farmer, like the packer and manufacturer, will not allow a single pound of his products to be wasted. That will not be parsimony, but good business. In the past there has been wanton waste of straw, and similar by-products of farming. In the future these will be considered main products, and they will be used in many ways to add to the value of farms and the net profits of farming.

Not many years ago cotton seed from the gin was heaped in great piles outside to lie and weather and rot, like the straw stack of the present day. Now cotton seed is almost "worth its weight in gold" for fertilizer, feed, food, condiments and other things that represent real coin of the realm. Dairymen could never keep their cattle in condition for maximum gains at the present time without the use of commercial cotton seed meal as a concentrated protein to mix with and balance other cattle feeds. And the oil of cotton seed is worth many millions, being used in dozens of ways in the manufacture of foods, and no doubt in dozens of other ways the layman never knows or dreams of.

If our annual small grain crops run into the billions of bushels, then our annual straw crops must run into tens of billions of pounds. Conservatively, no one-tenth of this gigantic by-product is saved and used as it might be, and as it should be. If the straw crop were simply saved and used in the simplest known way—that is for fertilizer—it would represent hundreds of millions of added wealth to our soils, and would result in enormously increased crop yields.

New Ranching Enterprise

Major Goldman Will Start Business on Large Scale

Major C. S. Goldman, M.P., for Penrhyn and Falmouth in the Imperial House of Commons, has just purchased 14,000 acres of land in the Okanagan, British Columbia, constituting the entire area between the towns of Merritt and Nicola. It is intended to bring in several hundred head of cattle and send them south to sheep, and to go to work on a fairly extensive scale. The property was formerly owned by quite a large number of people, but legal complications in connection with water rights made it comparatively easy for one man to acquire control.

Major Goldman, who was formerly editor of The Outlook, proposes making his home on his ranch, but will also have other interests in the coast province. He has completed an extensive tour of the north end of Alaska and the Yukon. He is of the opinion that individual prospecting has about come to an end, and that for future development large sections of country should be leased to big companies, who would send out prospectors on systematic surveys for mineral indications. In this way the approximate resources of the entire northern portion of the continent could be known in a very few years and practical development follow.

Would Be Late

A sailor who was spending the evening of his life in the country was very proud of his watch, which for nearly thirty years had never once gone wrong.

Early one morning he roused a visitor who was staying with him, and together they set out to see the sun rise. The host kept consulting his watch and then a calendar which gave the times of the sun's rising and setting.

There was a long wait in the pale, vague dawn. Presently, tapping his watch with his forefinger, the sailor said:

"If the sun ain't over that hill in a minute and a half, he'll be late."

What Man Is Made Of

Scientifically Explained, the Ingredients Have Many Possibilities

A writer in "The Electrical Experimenter" asks the old question, "What is man?" and submits a "scientific" answer as follows:

"A man weighing 150 pounds will contain approximately 3,500 cubic feet of gas—oxygen, hydrogen and nitrogen—in his constitution, which at 80 cents a thousand cubic feet would be worth $2.80 for illuminating purposes.

He also contains all the necessary fats to make a 15-pound candle, and thus, together with his 3,500 cubic feet of gases, he possesses considerable illuminating possibilities. His system contains 22 pounds, and 10 ounces of carbon, or enough to make 780 dozen, or 9,360 lead pencils. There are about 50 grains of iron in his blood, and the rest of the body would supply enough, if this metal were to make one spike large enough to kill his weight. A healthy man contains 54 ounces of phosphorus. This deadly poison would make 800,000 matches, or enough poison to kill 500 persons. This with two ounces of lime, makes the stiff bones and brains. No matter how sour a man looks he contains about 60 lumps of sugar of the ordinary cubical dimensions, and to make the seasoning complete there are 20 spoonfuls of salt. If a man were distilled into water he would make about 38 quarts or more than half his entire weight. He also contains a great deal of starch, chloride of potassium, magnesium, sulphur and hydrochloric acid in his wonderful human system.

"Break the shells of 1,000 eggs into a huge pan or basin, and you have the contents to make a man from his toenails to the most delicate tissue of his brain. And this is the scientific answer to the question, 'What is man?'

Deaths Due To The War

Total Casualties Of Allies Placed At 20,901,435

According to a computation made by the New York Times, from the most authoritative or official statistics, the deaths directly due to the war or indirectly inflicted by it number between 16,000,000 and 20,000,000, over 7,000,000 of which were military, and over 10,000,000 civilian. Of the civilian deaths over 10,000,000 were directly caused and nearly 10,000,000 indirectly caused by it. The total casualties of the allies is placed at 20,901,435 and of the Central Powers 12,492,217. Of the killed, the Central contributed 11,075,715, and the Central Powers 12,812,542. Great Britain is reported to have lost 515,890 in killed, Canada 69,383, Australia 54,431, India 28,000, France 1,385,300, Italy 460,000, Russia 1,700,000, Serbia 322,000, the United States 49,498 and Belgium 20,000.

The Dog Comes Into His Own

During the past four years the dog has given such a proof of his faithfulness that all over the world his praises are being sounded. From the very beginning of the war, dogs "had a paw in it." When the Germans invaded Belgium, the harness dogs, which up to that time had been used for hauling milk, vegetables, and other produce, began to assist the refugees in getting their children and household goods out of the invaded country. Later they hauled light cannon and carts laden with blankets, bread, hay and scores of other things for the comfort of the soldiers and their horses. Dogs did sentry duty throughout the battle-fields. Many Land carried dispatches through barbed wire entanglements, amid a hail of bullets, and, above all, added glory to their race by seeking out and helping the wounded everywhere, as battlefields of Europe and elsewhere.

Tourist Traffic In Canadian Rockies

British Columbia Having Surveys Made for Construction of Permanent Roadway

Prince George, B.C.—With a view to developing tourist traffic through the northern Canadian Rockies and the north Pacific coast country, the British Columbia government are having surveys made for the construction of a permanent roadway and bridge over the Fraser river to make the Mount Robson country accessible for the rapidly increasing tourist traffic that this Canadian wonderland is enjoying.

The Hon. D. J. H. King, minister of public works, is responsible for this improvement, and Mr. Hugh Taylor, bridge and road engineer, for George district, went over the ground with representatives of the Grand Trunk Pacific and selected a site at one of the finest scenic points near the junction of the Fraser and Grand Forks river for a high level bridge. Construction work on this bridge will be started immediately.

How To Fight Bolshevism

Representation of Labor Is Safeguard Against Revolutionary Movements

At the Canadian Club in Ottawa, General Currie said that he had heard of a flood of Bolshevik literature, and he advised the government to flood the country with literature of the right kind, in order that the other might be overcome and Canada made the kind of country for which the men of the expeditionary forces had fought and sacrificed during the war.

How should Bolshevik propaganda be answered? One way is to show the evil effects of a Bolshevik rule in Russia. That is good enough so far as it goes. But a better way still is to show that in Canada we have something better than Bolshevism; that our system is better for the masses of the people than Bolshevik. A keen and genuine interest in social reform is one of the safeguards against Bolshevik propaganda. Those who object to the sympathy shown by the churches with labor are on the wrong track. The more the churches sympathize with labor the less danger of Bolshevik representation of labor in parliament and the provincial legislatures is another safeguard.

revolutionary movements. Bolshevik despises representative institutions, and says they are shams and delusions, and they are merely tools of the plutocracy. Do not be content with merely saying that this is false. Make our parliaments so democratic and truly representative that they will be dear to the hearts of the people. Encourage labor representation; let the workman and his employer meet face to face in parliament. Establish proportional representation, so that all kinds of opinion will be reflected in our legislative bodies.—Toronto Star.

The Glorious Scarlet

The Military Spirit of the Old Army

of Deathless Fame

It has been urged that the use of khaki in the war has established a new creed and has eliminated the old sentiment attaching to the English scarlet, so famous on many a hard-won field. We cannot subscribe to this opinion, which probably emanates from those who have never donned scarlet or who are ignorant of the great history of their country. Indeed, the whole movement for the adoption of khaki for full dress, as on all other occasions, can surely only have arisen in the minds of those who have seen nothing else. Excellent as the services of these men have been, they can in no sense be imbued in this matter with the military spirit of the Old Army of deathless fame, and that is the spirit we would like to see preserved. It was the spirit that carried out the retreat from Mons; that stood at Le Cateau; recovered from apparent disaster; repelled the enemy on the Marne; drove him back along to the banks of the Aisne; was the spirit that held the thin line, though no longer red, with the blood of heroes, before Ypres, and performed an almost superhuman task in the defence of the Channel ports. That was the spirit, the tradition and the pride of the old red-clad infantryman. We desire in no way to depreciate those who have been called up to new formations since the beginning of the war. Their deeds have been altogether worthy of the great traditions which they inherited together with the titles of their corps. They have established a new tradition and an imperishable history that will last so long as written history is recorded in the chronicles of the world. But they would be the first to acknowledge that they have generously acknowledged the debt they owe to the example, the standards, and the training given to them by the Old Army. If they have not also adopted its uniform, that has been due to the exigencies of war, not to a disregard for the famous scarlet that in the past furnished the brave panoply of war, but which modern conditions have rendered inappropriate for use upon the field of battle.—Times of India.

Big Lumber Export

Report Indicate Much Activity in Lumber Industry of B.C.

Twelve million feet of the British lumber order of 73,000,000 feet have been shipped from Vancouver, and it is hoped that 40,000,000 feet will be on the way before the end of the year. If the demountable raft idea is put in operation, the shipments will be increased greatly, as these craft are expected to carry from 3,000,000 to 5,000,000 feet each. Reports from all the lumbering districts indicate much activity in that industry. For the first six months of the year the lumber manufacturers of the mainland shipped 100,000,000 feet, as compared with 50,000,000 feet for the corresponding period last year. Despite the falling-off in orders from the prairies owing to the disappointing crop, big orders continue to come in from the east and from across the border. The same report comes from the coast and island lumbermen, who have been reaching out for foreign orders since the close of the war.

A certain colored gentleman in Mobile was left a widower in his old age. Not very long after he suddenly announced his intention to marry again, adding, half apologetically: "But, mab friend, Ah never would have thought of it if mah Louise hadn't die!"

Become Mad?

The news from Turkey is past all understanding and belief. If Germany should reorganize her army in full view of the Allies and attempt to invade Belgium we should have a parallel to the action now ascribed to the government of Turkey. If there is a possibility of competition in such horrors, Armenia was worse than Belgium, and now the correspondents inform us that the Turks, in conjunction with the Tartars, and ably led, are marching from three directions to assist Armenia. Armenia determined on a war of extermination. These facts are incredible. Not that anybody is likely to doubt that the Turks are equal to just such a display of inhuman cruelty. They have taught us better than to put a breath of trust in their humanity or to give them credit for a moment of compassion. But they have no sense of the storm of vengeance such a war would evoke to sweep the remnants of an Ottoman empire into the Mediterranean or bury it under the sands of Asia Minor? Is Mustapha Kaimil Pasha, the "Director of National Defense," unable to read and dead likewise to rumor? Does he not know that though there have been voices raised for Germany, the arch-enemy, no voice has been lifted in Europe, nor will be, to stay any order of execution that may be issued to cure the sick man of many diseases by extreme penalty? Has no conception of the fact that an army of volunteers could be raised overnight in the United States to put the Turkish Silas out of business for ever?

Moreover, it will be raised, and there will be no more Sultans in Europe, haply none at all anywhere, excepting expeditions against Armenia should turn out as has been predicted. Ed.

ed. But if the Turks intend really to profit by the present delay, let them use it to show the Allies how exemplary they can be. The indictment against them is heavy enough. They will find even justice easier on them than the black wrath of a civilization—New York Globe.

Silos And Silage

Stands Ever as an Insurance Against Forage Failures

The silo is the most economic equipment for the storing of forage. When space is considered, eight times more feed can be kept in a silo than in a haymow. It would be difficult indeed to construct a barn which would hold 200 or 300 tons of haylage, while a simple and easy manner is to put up a silo that would hold this quantity. There is less deterioration in holding over winter than in holding over dry fodder. I have seen excellent silage that was six years old, and this same silage was fed successfully to cattle, which seemed to relish it more than new silage.

The silo stands ever as an insurance against forage failures, especially damages by frost and drought. Any kind of feed which can be grown can be saved in the silo, though it may not mature a grain crop. It makes farming more secure, and warrants a cheap and excellent forage for all kinds of stock in both winter and summer seasons.

Capacity of Canadian Elevators

For the year 1917-18 the total average capacity of the 3,600 grain elevators in Canada was 211,591,800 bushels, these figures representing an increase from a total of 523 elevators and warehouses with a capacity of 18,239,352 bushels in 1900-01. Under the Canada Grains Act, 1912, the Dominion Government has power itself to erect and operate terminal grain elevators. Five such elevators are already in operation and are situated respectively at Port Arthur, Ontario; Saskatoon, Saskatchewan; Moose Jaw, Saskatchewan; Calgary, Alberta; and Vancouver, British Columbia.

British Appreciates Welcome

Mysterious Blaze
Reported At Sea

Captain Smith Saw a Flash of Fire Ten Miles Distant

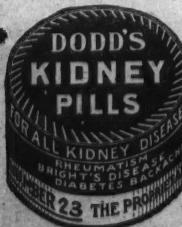

New York.—Another mystery of war was reported upon the Atlantic by the crew of the steamer Montezuma from Rotterdam with a tale of a strange explosion. Captain James Smith said that when approximately 600 miles from New York he saw a dash of fire to the north of his ship at 3:50 a.m. He judged it was about ten miles distant from his position.

Three hours later, Captain Smith reported, red-hot material was thrown high into the air and he plainly heard a terrific explosion. He found no trace of wreckage, however, although the weather was clear and there was a smooth sea.

An Easy Pill to Take.—Some persons have reluctance to pills because of their nauseating taste. Paramec's Vegetable Pills are so prepared as to make them agreeable to the most fastidious. The most delicate among them will not feel the revulsion that follows the taking of ordinary pills. This is one reason for the popularity of these celebrated pills, but the main reason is their high tonic quality as a medicine for the stomach.

Aero Club of Manitoba
Winnipeg.—The Aero Club of Manitoba is to be the official title of the organization of former air service men formed by the Royal Flying Corps. The object of the club is to promote interest in flying, to promote flying and to safeguard fliers, to assist in recruiting in an emergency, to render charitable and financial aid to flying men in case of need, and to stimulate interest in flying; also to raise patriotic funds if the necessity arises.

New Air Star Success
New York.—A feat never before attempted was successfully performed here by three aviators, who flew consecutively under the five East River bridges. Lieut. A. S. Roberts headed the trio with Lieut. C. H. Burgess, who was recently married in an airplane, on his left, and Lieut. N. L. Elliott on his right. They flew in the form of a triangle.

Liquor Congesting London Docks

Big Revenue in Sight If Government Cares to Make Use of It

London.—One of the chief causes of the unprecedented state of congestion on the London docks is said to be an enormous influx of wines and rum for which the liquor trade gave tremendous orders immediately after the armistice was concluded. It is reported that the port of London authorities are taking steps to slow down the importation until conditions become more normal.

A suggestion that the government could look to the liquor trade to ameliorate its financial problems was made in a speech at Carlisle by Baron d'Aberton, chairman of the central (liquor traffic) control board, and well known as a financier. Baron d'Aberton said that despite the increased taxation, the profits from the sale of liquor were greater than at any period in the trade's history. If financial conditions required it, he added, the revenue from alcohol could easily be brought up to £200,000 yearly.

Oil for Toothache.—There is no pain so acute and distressing as toothache. When they have so unmerciful a visitor, apply Dr. Thomas' Extract Oil according to directions and you will find instant relief. It touches the nerve with a soothng effect and the pain departs at once. That it will ease toothache is another fine quality of this oil, showing the many uses it has.

Hurrah! How's This
Cincinnati authority says corns dry up and lift out with fingers.

Hospital records show that every time you cut a corn you invite lockjaw or blood poison, which is needless, says a Cincinnati authority, who tells you that you can cut off a corn, call for a few drops of oil, and it will be rid of its feet of every hard or soft corn or callus.

You can apply a few drops of frankincense on a tender, aching corn and soreness is instantly relieved. Shortly the entire corn can be lifted out, root and all, without pain.

The doctor is sticky, but dries at once and is claimed to just shrivel up any corn without inflaming or even irritating the surrounding tissue or skin.

Relieve Congestion Of London Traffic

Plan to Make 5,000 Trucks Do Work of 95,000 Vehicles

London.—A. G. Gattle, in a conference with the board of trade committee with reference to his scheme for the reform of freight traffic in London, said that his proposal to use 5,000 motor trucks for the transport of commodities through London in connection with a centralized freight station, would take 95,000 vehicles off the traffic-jammed streets. Criticizing the present methods of handling cargoes on the London docks, he said it reminded him of boiling a cisterm with a teaspoon."

He advocated the employment of deep water wharves, abandoning docks.
